West Michigan Electrician Launches Information Portal on Home Electrical Repairs and Safety

The Electric Professor today announced the launch of www.theelectricprofessor.com as an information portal for West Michigan home owners to find information about electrical safety, and home improvement tips.

GREENVILLE, MI October 16, 2008 /24-7PressRelease/ -- The Electric Professor today announced the launch of www.theelectricprofessor.com as an information portal for West Michigan home owners to find information about electrical safety, and home improvement tips. With articles being added almost every day and an online monthly newsletter of home improvement tips the website is anticipated to quickly become West Michigan's primary resource web site for electrical safety and home improvement information.

Future plans include educational guides on selecting a electrical contractor, professional advice from local experts, and a question and answer forum for West Michigan homeowners.

The web site will be an invaluable resource for homeowners in finding accessible information to address their home electrical needs. Information will be efficiently categorized for easy navigation.

Brad Krause, president of The Electric Professor stated, "Our goal is to be the best home and family resource center and information portal for assisting all West Michigan homeowners with their electrical needs. The depth of knowledge and resources at www.theelectricprofessor.com is simple, concise and offers every homeowner some information about their home."
