

Los Angeles Data Center Corporate Colocation Inc. Gross Revenue Up 33% Year Over Year Data Center Space Up 25% - Major Network Upgrades

Corporate Colocation Inc. Los Angeles data center announces 2012 results.

LOS ANGELES, CA, January 29, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Corporate Colocation, Los Angeles largest independently owned SAS Type II Data Center continued to thrive and expand in 2012 with new growth centered on the Asia Pacific Market for which it is perfectly positioned on the border of the Pacific Rim.

Top Tier facilities and a proprietary combination of hot air extraction and air side economizing provide a complete advantage, while reducing harmful CO2 Output.

Currently Corporate Colocation Inc. occupies over 15,000 Sq. Feet of Data Center Space at 530 West Sixth Street in Los Angeles with additional deployments at 600 West 7th Street in Los Angeles.

The 530 West Sixth Street Facility was completely built out to the highest standards by Corporate Colocation.

Los Angeles DWP continued to reward and supports these advances in data center design, unique in the Los Angeles Market.

Direct access to the major West Coast Core of the Internet at One Wilshire is a major benefit to clients.

Highlights of 2012 were a 33% year over year increase in revenue and a 25% percentage increase in data center space and a 500% increase in network capacity.

Plans for 2013 include an additional 33% increase in data center space.

Corporate Colocation Inc. is a privately owned, and has no current outside funding.

Founded in 2003 by Jonathan Goodman, clients include major internet players, start-ups as well as foreign entities wanting a West Coast Presence.

The Asian Pacific Market has been the major growth sector due to Corporate Co location's proximity to Internet hub.

Corporate Colocation was founded by Jonathan Goodman in 2002 with one leased cabinet.
