

James W. Burke Jr. is Recognized by Worldwide Branding For Excellence in Military Analysis

Mr. Burke was given the Meritorious Service Medal and the Army Commendation Medal

KENNEBUNKPORT, ME, August 15, 2017 /24-7PressRelease/ -- James W. Burke Jr., Retired Military Analyst for Buffsticks Doc Enterprises, has been recognized for showing dedication, leadership and excellence in military analysis.

Worldwide Branding is proud to endorse the recent, notable professional efforts and accomplishments of James W. Burke Jr.. A member in good standing, James W. Burke Jr. parlays 30 years of experience into his professional network, and has been noted for achievements, leadership abilities, and the credentials they have provided in association with their Worldwide Branding membership.

With an interest in homeland security, James W. Burke Jr. entered into the U.S. military, serving for the 25 years. After retiring from the U.S. Army, National Guard and Army Reserve, Mr. Burke became a military analyst for the information technology company, Buffsticks Doc Enterprises. After dedicated three decades, he has now retired from this stint as well. Skilled in logistic planning and operations, he was charged with conducting research, collecting data, and performing online trading for this company that offered software development, training, consultation and support services for the U.S. military, government and private sectors.

Mr. Burke prepared for his career by earning a Bachelor of Arts in history from Trinity University in 1972 and a Bachelor of Science from The United States Military Academy one year later. He also earned a Master of Science in systems management from The University of Southern California in 1985 and studied courses at the United States Army Command and General Staff College. Mr. Burke was given several awards over his career, including the Meritorious Service Medal and the Army Commendation Medal. Now retired, he enjoys being a Civil War re-enactor for the Company K of the Third U.S Regular Infantry. He also volunteers at the local humane society and serves as a mentor for the Wounded Warrior Program in Fort Eustis, Va.

Among the many achievements of his career, a notable one is having completed his military fiction book, "The Weekend Warriors." The book is set in the mid 1980s, where the United States is continuing its post-Vietnam withdrawal from the world stage. The Soviet General Staff plans to take advantage of the West's disarray, and use it as an opportune moment to attack without warning and seize their objectives in West Germany and the Netherlands. To meet this threat, the United States is forced to mobilize large numbers of Reservists and National Guard troops who only expected to serve in support roles. They join active duty military on the front line to help defeat the Soviet onslaught and repel the invaders. This book was selected for the Eric Hoffer book award in March 2017, and he is currently working on a new book called, "Cold War Stories." Mr. Burke attributes his successful career to his military training and looking ahead, he hopes to grow professionally and expand his customer service skills.

Worldwide Branding has added James W. Burke Jr. to their distinguished Registry of Executives, Professionals and Entrepreneurs. While inclusion in Worldwide Branding is an honor, only small selections of members in each discipline are endorsed and promoted as leaders in their professional fields.
